

Brand building trumps consensus building in Washington

BY WILLIAM FREIVOGEL / Speaking on the second-day of the federal government shutdown, journalist Mark Leibovich said Washington doesn't work anymore because of media polarization, big money and the celebritization of politicians. He said the media "has made it easy to grandstand" for politicians like Sen. Ted Cruz, R-Tx.